

Girl Gang Meetup Model Safety

1

Check the blacklist. Photographers on this list target new models to shoot with because of their reputation. Stay away from them! Warn your girlfriends!

2

Check with at least one model they've shot with to see how their experience was with male photographers. Better safe than sorry, and best not to assume.

3

Bring someone with you to a shoot if you feel uneasy, but make sure you ask first - if they say no for any reason it's a good sign they're up to no good.

4

If you have a bad experience with a male photographer, tell someone to get them on the blacklist and prevent anyone else from getting hurt.

5

Trust your instincts. If you are uncomfortable at any time during a shoot, you have every right to leave! Don't feel obligated to continue to shoot with a creepy guy with a camera. You deserve to be safe and respected. Your time is valuable.

Men who take advantage of women under the pretense of creating art do not deserve to be called "photographers." Love yourself first ♡
